Harvey V. Higley, administrator of the Veterans Administration, Washington, will address a dinner-meeting of Legionnaires from the 22nd District and other veterans at the Albert J. Lentz Legion Post Home, Baltimore St., Sunday, May 23, Paul E. Anzengruber, commander of the local post, said today. The 22nd District comprises Adams, Franklin and York Counties.

The Gettysburg Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be invited to the dinner.

Higley was appointed to the position of administrator of the VA by President Eisenhower, July 22, 1953, to succeed General Carl R. Gray Jr.

The new administrator is generally referred to as a "veteran's veterans" because of his lifetime interest in the veteran and his family.

A graduate from the School of Chemical Engineering of the University of Wisconsin, Higley has had a long and successful business career. He has been associated with the Certainteed Products, East St. Louis, Mo., and Isko, Inc., of Detroit. After serving as a first lieutenant in the Army's Chemical Warfare Branch during the first world war, Higley joined the Ansul Chemical Company, of Marinette, Wis., where he rose to be its president in 1938 and chairman of the board in 1948. It was through his efforts, primarily, that the Ansul company grew to nation-wide recognition.

Administrator Higley has been prominent in the Legion since its inception. He is a member of the Teddy Budlong Post in Marinette and served in each office. He was elected Wisconsin department commander of the Legion in 1941 and later served as a national executive committeeman. He has maintained a close association with the Legion throughout the years. In 1949 he was cited by the University of Wisconsin for achievement in industry and civics and he was given the Eagles Citizenship Award in his home town in 1948.

Prominent Republican

In the Republican party he has long been active. He served as county chairman, district chairman and later GOP state chairman. He was an alternate delegate to the 1944 Republican convention, state chairman at the 1948 convention and Thirty-nine oil paintings—ranging from "Death Mask" to a semi-modernistic "MD 2:00 P.M."—are included in the first annual art exhibition being presented today, 12 noon to 9 p.m., by 15 students of an adult art class sponsored by the YWCA.

Ernest Krape, class instructor and retired decorator, said both still life and landscape reproductions will be on view this afternoon and evening in the living and dining rooms of the YWCA.

Friday, Mr. Krape, Mrs. Conway Williams, office manager; Mrs. Mark Eckert and Mrs. John Zinn completed the arrangement of paintings by the local artists. The exhibition is expected to be an annual affair.

11 Contributors

"Purpose of the show," Mr. Krape explained, "is to arouse and heighten a sense of the artistic in Gettysburg, stressing painting in particular." He emphasized that the works on display are the products of students, 'adults who study in classes sponsored by the YWCA of Gettysburg, many of whom have never attempted painting before."

"We are not showing this work as a final achievement," he said, "but to show what may be accomplished with an open mind through study and experiment."

Many of the paintings are encased in frames made by the students, as framework is recognized as an integral part of the picture, Krape said. The paintings will not be judged. Mr. Krape announced that interested persons may register at the YWCA for outdoor instruction classes scheduled to begin April 26.

Contributors to the YWCA exhibit are: Effie Zinn, Edna Kleppinger, Patricia Krape, Ruth Eckert, Vera Blatherwick, Anna Miller, Delores Rose, Peggy Sheely, Mary Collins, B. J. Albright and Donald Sheely.

CORONER'S JURY DECIDES CARSON WAS NEGLIGENT IN AUTO DEATH

Harold J. Carson, 18, Fairfield, found negligent by a coroner's jury Friday afternoon in its investigation into the auto accident death of Glenn R. Shirley, 21, Gettysburg R. 3, immediately waived a scheduled manslaughter hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore this afternoon and instead posted bail to appear in April court.

Carson told the coroner's jury he believed he was traveling at a rate of about 65 miles per hour when he came into the curve just east of the Rock Creek bridge at the edge of Hanover St. early Sunday morning a few seconds before the accident in which a companion in his car was fatally injured.

"I Was A Cowboy"

He said he believed he was traveling about 60 miles per hour as he started down Bonneauville hill just east of the borough. Asked if he looked at his speedometer at that time he said: "Glenn (Shirley) said we were going 60 on the hill just before that and I don't think I increased my speed."

In response to another query by Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, Carson said he had driven down the hill and through the bridge at speeds between 75 and 80 miles per hour previously. Then in answer to Dr. Crist's next question said he was not trying to "break that record" at the time of the fatal accident.

In response to queries, he admitted to having been arrested by State Policeman George Evanko for driving on the Hunterstown Rd. at 75 miles per hour early in March. "I was a cowboy" he added.

Admits Having Beer

Carson, 18, who left Fairfield High School before graduation, said he left his home at 6:45 o'clock on the night of the fatal accident.

He met Shirley on Lincoln Square, he said, and then the two young men drove around Culp's Hill, returned to Gettysburg, later drive to Bonneauville, where Shirley left Carson, made arrangements to meet him later, and Carson went to McSherrystown. Returning about midnight, he met Shirley. Carson said Shirley had four regular sized bottles of beer with him at that time.

At Bonneauville, Carson said, he stopped behind a car driven by Simon Kuhn, Bonneauville. Shortly after leaving Bonneauville, Carson said, he passed Kuhn, and that after that passage, and "about the hill before Bonneauville hill," Carson said he drank two bottles of the beer while Shirley drank one. Asked if the beer affected his driving, Carson responded, "I don't think it was down long enough to affect me."

Told Shirley To "Hang On"

Carson said he saw a car approaching from the west, just as he approached the curve before the bridge. He dimmed his lights, then saw that the car was "crowding me" and "then I saw the sparks." The sparks were caused by his car striking the guardwires at the approach of the bridge. He said he

News Collected At Random

Do you have any playground equipment you are not using or do you know someone who has? If so the Exchange Club can use it on the two new playgrounds they are making for children in the east and north ends of town.

The two new play areas are a welcome addition to the recreation facilities of Gettysburg. The Rec field is a little too far for younger children to walk to each day during the summer months. They are located off Custer Ave. in the rear of North Stratton St., and between 4th and 5th Sts., off Hanover St.

The club is in need of equipment for the two areas and will welcome sliding boards, jungle Jims, swings and other play equipment customarily used on playgrounds.

If such equipment is available it will be appreciated if you notify Donald Peters or John Codori and arrangements will be made to call for it.

FIRST NATIONAL OBSERVES 97TH ANNIVERSARY

Because the 100th aniversary is only three years away, the First National Bank of Gettysburg will mark its 97th birthday this year without a special program.

As a matter of fact the bank will be closed on the actual anniversary date, Sunday. But customers and other banks extended felicitations to the institution today in observance of the forthcoming birthday.

The bank opened its doors on Saturday, April 11, 1857, as "The Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings Institution of Adams County," and began its life in the midst of a depression and without a charter. The charter was not granted by the state until the following year.

Founder, and president of the early bank was George Throne, Franklin Twp. farmer who was also connected with many interests in Adams County, in the development of weighing scales, paper manufacturing, road construction, insurance and in coal and iron at Johnstown coal at Kittanning, in railroads and in numerous other businesses throughout the state.

First National In County

The original advertisement for the bank in the Adams Sentinel of 1857 stated that "At the first weekly meeting deposits were subscribed by responsible citizens for the current year to an amount exceeding $10,000 which will be paid in as required for the business of the association." The bank's original $10,000 in deposits had increased to $254,540.17 by the time the bank issued its first statement.

Mr. Throne was still president of the bank on March 11, 1864, when it became the 311th bank in the nation, and the first in the county, to nationalize. At that time the name was changed to The First National Bank of Gettysburg.

In 1898 Mr. Throne retired and his son-in-law, David G. Minter, became the president. Samuel M. Bushman, who had started as a clerk with President Throne, became the third president of the bank in 1911. C. H. Musselman was president from 1919 to 1922 when Edwin C. Tyson became head of the bank. Mr. Tyson was succeeded in 1928 by Edmund W. Thomas, the present president of the bank.

Always On Square

Throughout its history the bank has been located on Lincoln Square. It started there in a room in another structure, later expanded and the present building was constructed under Minter's presidency and renovated under President Thomas.

Present officers of the bank include Edmund W. Thomas, president; I. Z. Musselman, J. I. Burgoon, Edgar L. Deardorff, and Harry L. Snyder, vice presidents; Paul L. Spangler, cashier; Paul B. Fox, trust officer and assistant cashier; Ray J. Kitzmiller, assistant trust officer; E. L. Deardorff, secretary of the board, and Ray J. Kitzmiller, assistant secretary.

Directors include Attorney Franklin R. Bigham, Mr. Burgoon, Glenn Guise, M. C. Jones, Richard W. Livingston, Mr. Musselman, Mr. Snyder, Samuel G. Spangler, Mr. Thomas and Dr. Ralph D. Wickerham.

County School Directors To Elect Adams Superintendent Here Tuesday; 4 Candidates

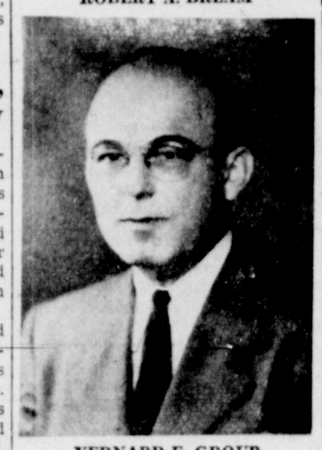

H. EDGAR RIEGLE

C. P. KEEFER

ROBERT A. BREAM

VERNARD F. GROUP

Adams County school directors will convene next Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the court house here to pick a man for the highest paying public school position ever filled in this county.

They will elect a county superintendent of schools from a field of four candidates for a four-year term and the minimum salary provided by state law for the job is $8,000 per year.

J. Floyd Slaybaugh, present superintendent whose resignation will become effective April 30, is receiving $7,250. His assistant, Charles I. Raffensperger, is getting the minimum salary now provided by state law for his position — $7,500.

167 Eligible To Vote

The four candidates from which the 167 Adams County directors must make their choice are, in the order in which they announced as candidates:

H. Edgar Riegle, Spring Grove, former Arendtsville school teacher and now an assistant superintendent of schools in York County.

C. P. Keefer, New Oxford, former principal at New Oxford who is now guidance counsellor in the Upper Adams High School at Biglerville.

Dr. Robert A. Bream, former teacher and former assistant county superintendent here who is now on the faculty of Lehigh University.

Dr. Vernard F. Group, Carlisle, former York Springs teacher who served as a school principal in New Jersey before entering World War II service and is now management training supervisor at the Naval Depot at Mechanicsburg.

Raffensperger Out Of Race

A fifth candidate, Assistant Superintendent Raffensperger, withdrew from the race several weeks ago. In his letter to the directors, Raffensperger said he is "fully capable of serving in the capacity of assistant" and added that Dr. Group has offered to appoint him assistant if he (Group) is elected.

None of the other candidates has indicated any choice for the post of assistant. That office is filled by appointment by the superintendent with the approval of the county board. The assistant's salary, however, will be fixed by the directors' convention on Tuesday.

The convention will have to set the salary for the new superintendent as well as for the assistant and will fix the salary for the supervisor of special education.

May Take Over May 1

State law fixed $8,000 as the minimum for the superintendent, $7,500 for his assistant and $7,000 for the special education position which Dr. George A. W. Stouffer is now filling at $5,200 a year. The change in the minimum for Dr. Stouffer's position will not become effective until the new school fiscal year begins July 1.

Because Superintendent Slaybaugh's resignation becomes effective April 30, directors regarded it as a possibility that the man named Tuesday could take over the job May 1 if he is available by that date.

For the first time since Gettysburg became a third class school district some 15 years ago, members of the Gettysburg school board will have a voice in the selection of a county superintendent of schools here. Recent changes in the school law make them eligible to vote.

75 Votes May Elect

For election, a candidate must receive a majority of the votes of the directors in attendance at the convention. With a total of 167 eligible to attend and with it regarded as likely that some directors will not find it possible to attend the mid-morning meeting, some directors were of the opinion today that 75 votes may be enough to elect.

With four candidates actively campaigning, the possibility of more than one ballot being required was being frequently mentioned.

To Stand Up And Vote

Directors will receive $8 each plus mileage for attending the convention. The sum is paid by the individual school districts.

The election does not take place by secret ballot. As each director's name is called, he rises and announces his choice for the office. In the past, candidates have been permitted to be present during the voting and tabulate a record of how the schoolmen vote.

Four years ago when Mr. Slaybaugh was elected, he was the only candidate.

MESTA RETURNS TO U. S. HOME IN PARTY MOOD

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anything can happen now that Perle Mesta, former U.S. Minister to Luxembourg is back in town and in her party-giving mood again.

There's talk she's even thinking of throwing a big shindig for the prize English poodles that her sister, Mrs. George Tyson, raises. Marguerite Tyson exhibited some of the poodles at a kennel show here recently. Now she says she'd like to introduce them to her Washington friends privately. She told newswomen she thought a garden party for some charity might be a good way of letting people see all the dogs —about 200 of them.

'Polmes By Holmes'

Mrs. Hal Holmes, gay and witty wife of the Republican congressman from Washington believes "a polme in the hand is worth two in the anthology."

That's what she told sister members of the Congressional Club here when she offered "Polmes by Holmes," her "collection of esoteric selection," for 15 cents a copy to make money to buy vases to replace the "hideous ones" in the club's board room.

Mrs. Holmes, a former teacher of English in her home state, is bard of the Congressional Club, made up of wives of members of Congress. Though she claims her verses are "pure doggerel," they delight club members at every important luncheon meeting, and one of them made the sophisticated New Yorker magazine several years back.

Wears Trousers

Tall, stately Mrs. Tran Van Kha, wife of the Vietnamese ambassador, never shops for a hat. A chapeau would look incongruous with her national dress—a long flowing tunic over full black trousers—which she always wears. The ambassador has adopted western dress but frequently appears on festive occasions in a long, richly embroidered robe with a mandarin type hat.

Maria Chavez de Conception of Paraguay, new chairman of the Inter-American Commission of Women, wears a gold ring that is really nine rings when opened out. She says it symbolizes love.

The single rose that Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) wears each day isn't from a boy friend, as some romanticists would have it. The lady says she has a florist deliver three roses twice a week.

Retires With Every Cent Ever Earned

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Not many people can say they retired with every penny they ever earned.

But William Alford, Huntington, who recently retired after 35 years as a Chesapeake and Ohio railway engineer, says he has all of the $35,000 he earned as a part-time fireman and as an engineer.

How did he do it? He has a private income, he doesn't smoke or drink and he is unmarried.

Private Planes Taxi Right Up Main Street

When the South Carolina Breakfast Club, an association of private plane enthusiasts, meets here, the planes taxi down the main street and angle park at the curb near the restaurant where club members eat.

Missing Tuna Puzzle Canadian Fishermen

OTTAWA (AP) — The mystery of the missing tuna off Canada's west coast still has fisheries officials puzzled after three years. First there were plenty of tuna; then there were none.

In 1939, tuna of the albacore variety, a streamlined fish weighing from 10 to 20 pounds, moved into British Columbia waters for the first time in history. There were not many at the start and the war curtailed commercial possibilities. However, from 1944 on the catch increased and during the 1948-1950 peak period, 6,500,000 pounds were landed with a value of $1,300,000.

Then the fish began to vanish. The 1951 catch was a mere 190,000 pounds worth $33,000.

Judge Puts 'Beaver' Into An Iron Cage

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The prisoner was known as "the Beaver," police told the judge, because of his talent for ripping his way into stores with his bare hands. He admitted tearing a hole in a jewelry store roof with his hands, climbing out again with $5,500 worth of watches.

"Well," said the judge, "let him try his talent on some steel bars. Ten to eighteen years."

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A police prowl car, answering a residential call, found a woman terrified by a large frog on her lawn. One of the cops took the frog home to his children, who like them.

THREE SCRIBES FLY OVER BATTLE IN INDOCHINA

WITH THE FRENCH AIR FORCE OVER DIEN BIEN PHU (AP)—From a blacked out transport plane 10,000 feet over Dien Bien Phu, I got a glimpse early today of the grim battle now symbolizing the struggle between the free world and communism.

I was one of three American correspondents who were the first newsmen to witness the French operations attempting to supply enough help to permit the survival of the besieged northwest Indochina fortress.

Only air power links the fortress to the non-Communist world and there is not enough of that. But this morning's operation was a success. Officers reported virtually all supply parachutes hit the ground in the target area. Only one French plane was damaged and it got back safely to its base somewhere near Hanoi.

Shoot At Planes

The correspondents—myself, Allan Jackson of the Columbia Broadcasting System and John Mecklin of Time and Life — saw the signal lights of Dien Bien Phu emerge suddenly in a sea of blackness broken only by occasional flashes of the Communist-led Vietminh antiaircraft fire.

The Communists threw 12.7 millimeter shells at the low-flying French supply planes but they apparently were heaving little 37-millimeter fire which would have brought our command post plane within range. Obviously the Vietminh were more concerned with low-flying planes and their precious cargoes.

We were aboard the command post plane by permission of Gen. Rene Cogny French commander in northern Indochina.

Flares Not Requested

Our plane—a C47, twin engine Dakota—took off two hours before midnight Friday carrying a huge load of parachute flare bombs supplied by the U. S. military aid program. These were to be dropped if the fortress requested by radio. The flares were not requested, indicating the Vietminh were not attacking at the moment.

The mission thus was confined to directing the parachute operation. This required the plane to be totally blacked out and to circle over Dien Bien Phu more than three hours.

The men aboard the plane indicated a healthy respect for the marksmanship of the Vietminh gunners.

There was a quiet determination and confidence about these men. They are the same ones who previously had witnessed the drops of reinforcements into Dien Bien Phu when the siege began. Those tough reinforcements - parachutists in their red belts and uniforms splotched varicolored with camouflage—require a rare type of courage to drop through the Vietminh fire into the isolated bastion from which they well know they may never return. Such men have a deep respect for their brothers in arms.

Fliers Are Confident

In our command plane the men feeling their way about in the ghostly blackness seemed full of determination to accomplish their job of pouring life blood into the bastion.

They appeared confident too that it will possibly save their brother soldiers boxed in by the Vietminh artillery in the fortress, 182 air miles west of Hanoi.

Communiques report "a lull" in the fighting but there is no bell calling off the harassing mortar and artillery fire from the Communist side.

Our plane flew above the fortress for the last time at 3:35 o'clock in the morning. Behind us a few orange colored tracers lobbed lazily through the blackness.

RESUME TALKS ON IRANIAN OIL

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today a mission representing eight Western oil companies will leave immediately for Tehran to open negotiations for the restarting of the billion-dollar Iranian oil industry.

A foreign office spokesman told a news conference the oil companies, including five American firms, have reached agreement on a plan to resume operations of the oil fields, which were idled after Iran nationalized the British-owned industry three years ago.

The spokesman said the mission would leave tonight by air for the Iranian capital on the "warm invitation of the Zahedi government."

Officials were optimistic that the negotiations between the newly organized oil combine and Iran will result in the reopening within a few months of the vast oil fields and the giant refinery at Abadan.

The United States has pressed strongly behind the scenes for some kind of an oil settlement which would start oil revenues pouring once more into the almost empty treasury of strategic Iran.

Make New Demands On Westinghouse

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. has under consideration today contract demands of the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions.

Union and company officials concluded a two-day negotiating session yesterday devoted to the union's proposals. No date was set for resumption of talks.

The union seeks a $10 monthly salary boost or five per cent, whichever is greater, for some 15,000 members. Current salary rates were not disclosed. Other demands include an improved vacation plan and an additional holiday each year.

Practical Employer Is High On Shorts

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—All of the howls didn't come from the male wolves when a few state capitol stenographers wore shorts to work to help cool in sweltering weather.

Complaints from private citizens quickly put an end to the practice.

But at Salina, Kan., Grover Simpson, a grainman, commented that Topekans "may thrive on hot air, but we don't" — and invited his office girls to wear shorts. Six did. So did Simpson.

Art Gallery Accords Plow Place Of Honor

DES MOINES (AP)—The humble plow has achieved the status of an art form.

In a farm exhibit at the Des Moines Art Center, an ancient plow found in Adair County was accorded a place of honor.

Students placed the plow in the gallery as a joke. But Dwight Kirsch, center director, decided it belonged. So the plow was mounted on a pedestal for display, flanked by 65 paintings of rural scenes by internationally known artists.

REP. VELDE IS FACING TOUGH PRIMARY FIGHT

PEORIA, Ill., (AP) — Chairman Harold H. Velde of the House Un-American Activities Committee is bidding for another term in Congress with tacit but unmistakable disapproval from within the Protestant clergy.

By no means are all the ministers in Velde's district against him. But some of them are, and say so privately. They disapprove of the way the Velde Committee has brought individual clergymen into the scope of its investigations.

The Republican congressman from Pekin also is up against a seasoned popular state representative, Robert H. Allison, when Illinois runs off the nations first primary next Tuesday.

His Toughest Fight

A veteran of 30 years in state and local politics sized up the contest this way:

"Velde is in the toughest fight of his life. I think he'll win."

That opinion is shared rather widely by many other political leaders in Velde's district and by a lot of ordinary citizens. But not by Allison.

"I'm going to win and you can count on it," he said.

That was in an on-the-fly interview in the midst of a fast round of speeches and appearances that kept the 60-year-old, one-armed veteran of 10 terms in the state legislature on the go all day long and into the night.

CORONER'S JURY

did not know when the approaching car passed him.

State Policeman John L. Manley, who investigated, said Carson told him shortly after that accident that a car coming from the east had blinded him, that he had then said "hang on" to warn Shirley and his car had struck the bridge. On the witness stand Friday afternoon Carson did not say the approaching car blinded him with its lights.

Jack Rebert, 18, Gettysburg R. 5, first witness on the stand, said he first saw Carson's car when it was nearing the curve before the Rock Creek Bridge. The car was "traveling at 60 to 70 miles an hour" he estimated. Rebert placed the location of his car at the time at Hanover and Fifth Sts.

Saw Body Roll Toward Him

Rebert said he saw sparks coming from Carson's car as it apparently struck the bridge, and halted his own car. Carson's vehicle, he said, glanced off the bridge side, crossed the bridge, traveling in about the middle of the highway, later veered south, knocked off a telephone pole, rolled over and stopped at the next pole. It looked like a tire was rolling at me from the car. Then I saw it was a body."

Charles Seymour, 19, Bonneauville, a passenger in Rebert's car, said the first thing he saw was the sparks flying from Carson's vehicle. He agreed with the remainder of Rebert's statement, adding only that he "thought I saw a pair of taillights going up Bonneauville hill when Carson's car struck the bridge." Seymour said he could not be certain that he saw the taillights, because his attention was drawn to Carson car, but that "I sort of feel I saw them."

Simon Kuhn told the jury he saw Carson and Shirley at Bonneauville when they stopped behind him, and that he made arrangements then to meet them at Mitchell's Restaurant in Gettysburg. He did not go back to their car, he said, but merely yelled back from his own vehicle. Kuhn said the Carson car passed his a short distance west of Bonneauville. Kuhn said he drove about 25 to 30 miles per hour toward Gettysburg, and when he arrived, 'the accident was all over. There were a lot of people there. The police were there. The Gettysburg fire company rescue truck was just arriving."

Two Women On Jury

He said he could not recall whether any other car passed him enroute to Bonneauville as he drove toward Gettysburg. Rebert in his testimony had said his car and Carson's were the only ones in sight.

Ira Williams identified pictures taken at the scene. State Policeman Manly gave measurements in connection with the accident.

The jury included Hugh Craig, Mary J. Bollinger, Margie Carpenter, Frank Mumper, John Powell and G. Henry Roth.

The jury found that Shirley came to his death from a fractured skull and fractured seventh cervical vertebra (broken neck) at 12:30 a.m. April 4, in Gettysburg and that the injuries "were suffered in an auto accident at Rock Creek Bridge on the Bonneauville-Gettysburg Rd. The accident was caused by negligent operation on the part of the driver, Harold Carson, 18, Fairfield."

POMONA GRANGE HOLDS MEETING IN EMMITSBURG

Paul Beall, member of the education committee, and Bruce Crum, worthy master of the Pomona Grange, shared the speaking assignment at the bi-monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange No. 407 Wednesday evening in the Emmitsburg Public School.

Beall spoke of the problems confronting the school systems in Maryland. Crum elaborated on these problems and explained many of the intricacies of state education. The meeting was under the supervision of Master Edgar Emerich.

Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner reported the Emmitsburg Red Cross Drive total exceeded by more than 50 per ment its quota. Figures showed that collections amounted to $634.95. The quota was $375. Mrs. Baumgardner announced that the Grange "wishes to thank all solicitors and contributors for the fine showing."

The home economics chairman, Mrs. Rose Wivell, reported that a cookie and dressmaking contest will be held at the first meeting in May. She said the cookies must be of the drop or ice-box variety. Dresses must be one-piece cottons. The Home Economics committee will hold a corn party in the Fire Hall, May 22.

Program for the evening was a movie "For Years to Come" presented by Rhea Kincaid, state soil conservationist.

First and second degrees will be conferred in Ballenger, April 9. The next regular Pomono meeting will be conducted in the Liberty High School, May 1. After the meeting, at which contributions to the Vigilant Hose Company and the School Safety Patrol were also made, refreshments were served to the adult and juvenile Grange by the hostesses, Mrs. Norman Six and Mrs. John Troxell. Visiting guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crum, of Frederick.

Lutheran Women Meet

Theme of the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Elias Evangelical Lutheran Church, Tuesday, in the Parish Hall was "Why I Am A Lutheran." Nineteen members were present and Mrs. George Eyster presided. The program was in charge of Mrs. Philip Bower, wife of the pastor.

The May meeting was announced as a covered dish dinner. Program committee will comprise: Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, Mrs. Louis Stoner, and Mrs. Robert Daugherty. Hostesses will be: Mrs. Roy Maxell, Mrs. Harry McDonnell, Mrs. Roscoe Shindledecker and Mrs. George Eyster.

A letter of thanks from Superintendent of Konnarock Mission School was read. It expressed appreciation to the Society for the box of clothing, linens and school supplies sent to that school recently. Refreshments were served after the meeting by the hostesses: Mrs. Plank, Mrs. Chester Chapman, and Mrs. Earl Sheely.

Adopt Korean Orphan

The Ladies' Bible Class of Tom's Creek Methodist Church pledged $120 toward providing financially for a Korean war orphan, one of the thousands left homeless as an aftermath of the recent Korean conflict.

In making the announcement, a church spokesman said: "If we have given life and hope and the opportunity for a child to become a useful and good citizen of the coming generation, we feel that we are well paid for our efforts. This is the generation with which our own children must live and work to build happiness and security and peace of mind in this small world."

Chying In Cha is the girl the group has adopted. During the last year the Ladies' Bible Class forwarded many packages to the aid of others in distress in Korea.

The Emmitsburg Junior High baseball team lists a record of one win and one defeat. In the season opener, the Emmitsburg nine lost to St. Anthony's, 6-3. In the second game against St. Euphemia's, Emmitsburg won in the last inning by scoring five runs. Bill Brawner's catching and clutch hitting were big factors contributing to the victory.

Appeals To Ike To Hold Army Depot

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin says he has been advised by President Eisenhower to get in touch with Sherman Adams, chief presidential aide, and Roger M. Kyes, deputy Secretary of Defense, to "see what can be done" about the Army's proposed transfer of a signal corps depot from Dundalk, Md., to Tobyhanna, Pa.

McKeldin made a personal appeal to the president at the White House yesterday. He left with the president a long letter setting forh reasons why he is opposed to the transfer.

McKeldin said the Baltimore area now is classified as having a moderate labor surplus. To transfer the Dundalk depot, he said, might create an unemployment problem "of much more serious proportion."

Has 3 Sets Of Twins In 42 months

SALEM, Ohio (AP)—Three sets of twins in 3½ years!

That's how the record read after Mrs. Raymond Salter, 24, gave birth at Central Clinic here Thursday to Joe Jay, 5 pounds, 3½ ounces, and Joy Kay, a half-ounce lighter.

"I wasn't at all surprised," said Mrs. Salter. "I just figured that with my luck I'd have twins again."

All her twins are boy-girl combinations. The first, John Henry and Su Lin, were born Oct. 9, 1950. Last May 4, Penny Lou and Paul Lee arrived.

It counts up to a Salter family of 10, for there are also Raymond Jr., 6, and Jet Ann 5.

WEST BACKING BIG 4 TALKS ON DISARMAMENT

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—With recent U.S. hydrogen bomb tests injecting a "new note of urgency," the West today was solidly behind a proposal for private talks among the Big Four and Canada on world disarmament. Russia asked for time to study the plan.

The dramatic proposal to take such arms discussions out of the public eye, where they have proved only a deadlock of propaganda exchanges, was made yesterday by Britain's Sir Pierson Dixon before the U. N. Disarmament Commission.

Most delegates expected the Russians finally would agree to the secret talks. But some observers wondered whether Russia might not be preparing to insist on Red China's participation.

New Note Or Urgency

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky said he would have to reserve until later his comment on the British proposal, which got prompt backing by the United States, France and Canada.

One member of the commission said he understood Vishinsky had sought the delay because he had not received instructions from Moscow in time for yesterday's session.

In an obvious reference to the latest American H-bomb tests and the chain reaction political furor they have set off around the world, Sir Pierson said in introducing the plan "there is a new noe of urgency n he world oday. We mus redouble our effors."

The plan calls for creaton of a five-power sub-committee consisting of the United States, Britain, France, Russia and Canada to try to find a solution to the disarmament and atomic control problem which public debate has failed to solve the past eight years.

Whisky Odor Too Strong For P. O.

WANTAGH, N. Y. (AP)—The past month it smelled as if everyone was in "high spirits" around the local postoffice.

There was a definite whisky smell in the air and the clerks took a daily ribbing.

The smell was cleared up yesterday when police and federal agents raided a three-story frame house across the street. They found a 1,000-gallon still. Nobody was home.

A woman who owns the house said she rented it six weeks ago "to the nicest couple."

WHEAT CROP CUT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A combination of drought, dust storms and production controls apparently has cut this year's winter wheat crop to about 200 million bushels below that of a year ago.

The Agriculture Department estimated yesterday this year's winter wheat crop would total 677,891,000 bushels as compared with a crop of 877,511,000 bushels last year. This year's crop also appears to be well below the 10-year average of 832,977,000 bushels.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IT'S A BEAUTIFUL DAY!

I thank God that I am alive today, well and happy. Twenty years ago, I had no idea that I would be alive today. So I am not going to worry about tomorrow. Today is a beautiful day! I accept it as it is—no matter what weather report!

The day is the thing, and what matters most is how we handle it. Never will this same day ever dawn again! Big things have been done in a day—things that have often changed the history of the world, and often of a single human being.

We make our own days and we are personally responsible for what we do with the one today. It can be a beautiful day, if we will it to be, for the value of a day depends upon what we put into it, and what it puts into us. If we succeed in making some one else happier, through a good word spoken, or through encouragement to some one, we have gained far more than anything in money, or personal acclaim.

Material profit is ordinary, but spiritual profit is extraordinary. What a gift—another day! It should inspire the humblest. It's always a beautiful day when we wake up in the morning, determined to make the most of every minute and, in gratitude to God, give thanks for every accumulated blessing. I like that birthday greeting: "Many happy returns!" Returns from kindnesses rendered, good cheer from others, and rewards for having lived a useful life.

To have lived triumphantly today is no small thing. The sum of such days is the measure of success and genuine happiness. It's always a beautiful day if you have nourished your heart.

Protected, 1954, George Matthew Adams Service

Just Folks

FOR TODAY

From dawn to dusk I would be true,
Glad in the tasks I find to do;
Glad that the strength is mine to bear
Whatever comes of toil and care.

I would not spoil this day with hate,
Nor to the stranger bar my gate,
And when these hours have run their course
Let me not view them with remorse.

Let me be watchful of my tongue,
Lest careless speech from it be flung;
Let all that I shall speak today
Spread happiness along my way.

I pray these eyes of mine shall see
The beauty of each vine and tree,
The smiles of friends, my neighbor's worth
And all the glories of the earth.

Lord, as I start the toil of day
This is the humble prayer I pray:
Help me to keep my honor bright.
Let me be unashamed at night.

BADGER SOLON WANTS TO QUIZ ARMY PEOPLE

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) returns today from Arizona to prepare for the televised Senate public hearings called to determine the truth in his bitter controversy with high Army officials.

McCarthy has declared he will "insist" on the right to cross examine the Army people with whom he is feuding, and has offered to let their counsel cross examine him. But the Senate Investigations subcommittee which will run the probe has served notice it hopes to arrange some other procedure. The issue could become explosive.

McCarthy has stepped aside as the subcommittee's chairman for the duration of the inquiry, letting Sen. Mundt (R-SD) serve as its temporary head.

At McCarthy's request, the subcommittee voted yesterday to postpone for one day—to April 22—the start of the public hearings, to allow time for him to make a scheduled Texas Independence Day speech in Houston, Tex., April 21.

Counsel Plans Course

Mundt said Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee's new special counsel, is at home in Knoxville, Tenn., laying groundwork for the hearings and charting recommendations on important preliminaries the subcommittee will handle behind closed doors at meetings starting Monday morning.

The subcommittee ordered its investigation after:

1. An official Army report alleged that McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, subcommittee chief counsel, had sought to win special favors for Pvt. G. David Schine, a subcommittee consultant who was drafted.

2. McCarthy and Cohn accused Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and John G. Adams, Army general counsel, of trying to use the drafting of Schine as "a club" to blackmail the subcommittee into dropping its investigations of Reds in the Army.

McCarthy said in a news conference in Tucson yesterday he intends to discuss publicly the charge he made Tuesday night that the United States' hydrogen bomb research was delayed 18 months.

McCarthy said then, in a nationally telecast talk, the delay was deliberate and he asked why it occurred "if there were no Communists in our government."

110 OUT OF 986 MAKE GRADE IN STATE CPA EXAM

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A record number of candidates took the state examination for certified public accountants last November but only 110 of the 986 total made the grade. The three-day tests were conducted in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The Pennsylvania State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants said today that the number of those who passed—11 per cent—was well below the usual average of between 20 and 30 per cent. The previous year 819 took the exam and 184 passed, a percentage of 22.

The state board said one reason for the poor showing this time was that many apparently took the exam to get in under the wire on a change of qualifications for applicants. Until last Jan. 1 it was necessary only to be at least 21, be able to read and write English and pay a $35 fee. The law was amended, however, to require six years of high school-college education and practical experience before a candidate could take the test. Those who flunked do not lost out entirely, though; the law permits them to have another try next fall, under the old requirements.

Offer 63 Stories As Court Evidence

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Sixty-three newspaper stories of the slaying of 15-year-old Marta Gibbons in Levittown last Jan. 22 were introduced in evidence here yesterday at a change of venue hearing.

William M. Power and William F. Heefner, court appointed counsel for George L. Capps, 22, confessed killer of the girl, seek removal of his trial to another county.

They told Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite, presiding in Bucks County Court, that opinion throughout the county is so inflamed that it would be impossible for Capps to get a fair trial here.

The attorneys argued that 23 of the 63 news accounts, taken from six different newspapers, were inflammatory. They said also that six detective story magazines have published articles dealing with the case, and described them as inflammatory. They asked to be given until April 14 to prove that these magazines circulate in Bucks County.

Shipbuilders Go Back To Work Today

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Employes on the midnight shift at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. returned to work tolay after settlement of a four-day work stoppage which had idled about 6,700 men.

The workers voted unanimously last night to terms of an agreement between the company and Lodge 801, International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, ending a dispute over the suspension of 57 union officers following a brief walkout last Friday.

peach blossoms to provide a pastel landscape of ever-changing beauty amid the brown, freshly plowed fields set against the freshening green of the mountains, the department points out, in advising there is no better time to visit Pennsylvania than in this pre-summer season.

There are high points to a vacation in Pennsylvania, says the department, other than just the elevations of the mountains—high points in scenic beauty, recreational facilities, gay resorts, quiet cabins in the woods, good fishing on stream or lake, excellent highways to get you anywhere in the Keystone State and the traditional hospitality that has made Pennsylvania a land of friendliness and characteristic charm.

Pennsylvania is picturesque, scenically beautiful, widely diversified. Weird rock formations on many mountains, beauty underground in a dozen commercial caves, remains of old canal beds, major historic shrines—all to intrigue and interest the recreational traveler and vacationist—are here in abundance.

And added to all these, more than 300 events of state-wide interest have been scheduled already for the 1954 season. They range all the way from flower shows to country fairs scattered over the state. These events add a "bonus" to the Pennsylvania vacation offerings. This calendar of events, revised monthly, will be sent to all persons who write the Department of Commerce, Main Capitol Building, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

COURT MENTOR WANTS TO QUIT

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Five years at Penn State have convinced Elmer Gross that basketball coaching is "pretty tough" so he is seeking to give up his coaching job.

The 37-year-old former Penn State cage star would not say whether he has submitted a resignation but he noted, "I've been trying to quit the last two years, if that means anything."

He said he has been having stomach and eye trouble for two or three years and, I'll have to do something shortly, I'm relatively certain."

Gross took over at the helm of the Nittany Lions in 1949 when John Lawther resigned. His teams have won twice as many games as they have lost. Last month Penn State went to the national semi-finals of the NCAA tournament, the second time a Gross team has played in the post season event.

Gross indicated he would like to continue teaching and research work as an associate professor in Penn State's school of physical education. "Since coaching is pretty tough I'd much rather give that up than teaching."

Ernest R. McCoy, director of athletics at the university, knew nothing about a Gross resignation. "As far as I'm concerned, it's just a rumor," he commented.

Gross has been reported ready to resign.

Surprise: Stengel Predicts 6th Flag

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel predicted today the New York Yankees will win their sixth consecutive American League pennant. Manager Al Lopez forecast a Cleveland flag and pilot Paul Richards declared his Chicago White Sox will beat out both the Yankees and Indians for the championship.

In contrast to the variance of opinion in the American League, practically all eight pilots have tabbed the defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers as the team to beat for the National League championship.

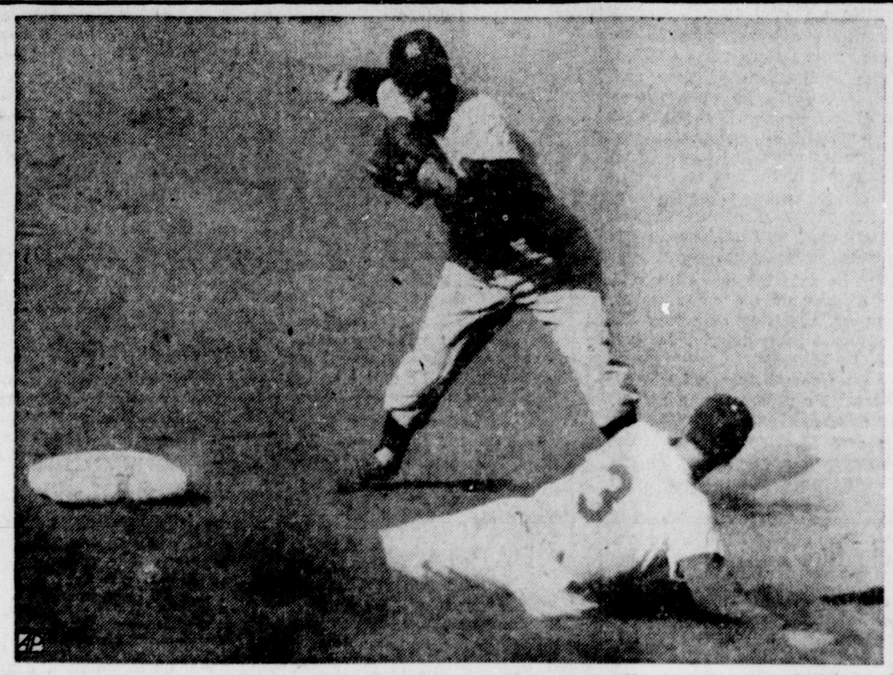

Blonde Russian Under $1,000 Bond

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ludmila Sergeevna Mihailova, 20, blonde and eye-catching, says she was trying to give the FBI information about spying jobs Communists gave her at $1,000 a month "and they turn around and arrest me."

The FBI had no comment. Immigration Service agents arrested Miss Mihailova, a Shanghai-born white Russian, yesterday on a charge of failing to abide by restrictions placed on her as an alien subject to deportation. She was released under $1,000 bond.

She came to the United States three years ago as a stateless refugee but was ordered deported as a Communist sympathizer.

She told the Washington Post and Times Herald she came here to "try to make a deal" with the Department of Justice.

ROSI ROCKETS WITH TKO OVER COMPO FRIDAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Paoli Rosi, who used to work in his father's fireworks factory in Rieti, Italy, is skyrocketing in the lightweight boxing class.

The 26-year-old Italian import with the receding hairline made good as a main event TV fighter last night by stopping Eddie Compo on a technical knockout in 54 seconds of the sixth round at St. Nicholas Arena. It was his first main go. An estimated 1,500 paid $3,000 to see it.

As a reward for his convincing job on a veteran of 85 pro fights, Rosi was given an April 30 St. Nicks date with Orlando Zulueta, the high ranking Cuban.

Rosi Was Favorite

"If he wins that one we'll yell for a shot at the champ—Paddy DeMarco," said manager Carmine Tarantino without too much originality.

Rosi dropped Compo for an automatic eight count with a long "sucker" righthand lead to the jaw in the third. He had given Compo a good going over in the second. Again in the fourth and fifth he drove Compo around the ring but the seasoned Compo fought back gamely.

A hook to the body drove Compo into a neutral corner early in the sixth. As Rosi drove home a barrage of blows, Compo went to his knees and referee Al Berl stopped it.

Rosi, at 133¾, was a 12 to 5 favorite over Compo who weighed 133.

Badgers About To Take Crown Home

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Wisconsin's hard-hitting Badgers were just about set tonight to take home their seventh NCAA boxing championship trophy.

Coach John Walsh's Big Ten pugilists all but wrapped up the prize last night when they swept all four of their semi-final fights, two by knockouts. That gave them a commanding five point lead over Louisiana State's small but formidable squad and a seven-point bulge over Maryland.

LSU and Maryland each had two men in tonight's finals and they are the only schools with a remote chance of catching the Badgers.

SPRING GROVE AGAIN TOPS N. O.

New Oxford High School suffered its second loss of the tender baseball season to Spring Grove 9-3 at New Oxford Friday afternoon. Spring Grove won a 7-0 verdict Tuesday at Spring Grove.

Coach Russ Sohnleitner's team spotted Spring Grove a pair of runs in the top of the first inning and then knotted the count in its half when Welby Snyder doubled home a pair of runners. Snyder, who collected three hits, also poled a two-bagger in the final inning to drive in New Oxford's other tally.

New Oxford will be host to York Springs Tuesday in another exhibition game.

York Springs won its second straight baseball game to even its mark at 2-2 by defeating Boiling Springs High School 6-2 in an exhibition game Friday afternoon on the Bubblers' diamond.

The Bubblers, defending Adams County League champs, were held to five hits by Garry Miller who also fanned nine batsmen.

Six miscues by the Bubblers contributed heavily to the York Springs triumph. Bill Guise, Springer outfielder, collected two of York Springs' six hits.

Lakers And Nationals In Crucial Tilt Today

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Tied at two games each, the Minneapolis Lakers and Syracuse Nationals clash today in the pivotal fifth game of the National Basketball Association's championship series.

The series is best-of-seven but both sides recognized the importance of today's tussle, which will be televised by Dumont on many stations around the country. Time is 3 p.m. (EST).

LEHIGH CAPTAIN

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Kenneth J. Faust of Shamokin, runner-up in the 137-pound class at the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Assn. championships, has been elected captain of the 1954-55 Lehigh University wrestling squad, it was announced today.

BULLETS MEET KENT STATE 9 HERE MONDAY

Victory over Elizabethtown 11-3 in the opening game last Saturday, the Gettysburg College baseball team will resume its schedule with a pair of home games Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 3 o'clock.

Appearing here Monday for the first time in history will be Kent State University of Kent, Ohio. The Ohioans are on an eastern tour and are reported to have a hard-hitting outfit.

Western Maryland, currently 1-1 for the season, will come here Tuesday afternoon to wind-up the Bullets' pre-spring vacation schedule.

Coach "Hen" Bream revealed today he plans to divide the hurling on Monday between Sam Mowery and Joe Bierly. Both turned in brilliant three-inning performances last week with the former receiving credit for the victory.

Two southpaws, Joe Foulk and Jim McElhaney, and Danny Bushman of Arendtsville are slated for action Tuesday against Western Maryland.

No change is anticipated in the Bullets' regular starting lineup. The infield will be manned by Oakie Schlick, first base; Don Annett, second base; John Schreiber, third base, and Jack Keller, shortstop.

PATTON LEADS BEN HOGAN BY 1

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"It's been sorta like a dream. I know I'm supposed to be leading a field of golfers like this."

Doing the talking was Billy Joe Patton, an easy-going amateur almost unknown except to his Tarheel neighbors at Morganton, N.C. The friendly fellow with the newfound fame was explaining how he felt about being "Mr. Big" at the midway mark of the 20th anniversary Masters Golf Championship.

Going into today's third round this 31-year-old weekend golfer was on top of the heap with an even par 144, one stroke better than the present-day king of the links, bantam Ben Hogan himself.

Even after showing his heels for two days to the likes of Hogan, Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead and most of the other top professionals and amateurs in the nation, Patton refused to take his chances for victory in this prestige-loaded tournament very seriously. No amateur has ever won a Masters.

"It's too early to talk about winning," he said with a smile. "They haven't put the chips on the line yet."

Phils And A's Open City Series Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies and Philadelphia Athletics open their 1954 city series today with lefthander Curt Simmons scheduled to start for the National Leaguers and either lefthander Alex Kellner or righthander Bob Trice for the A's.

A second game will be played tomorrow and a third game June 28.

The Phillies will start practically the same team which tied with the St. Louis Cardinals for third place in 1953.

The Athletics, on the other hand, will field a renovated outfit with Dave Philley, Eddie Robinson and Harry Byrd missing from last year's seventh-place team.

Yankees Drop 8-2 Decision To Brooklyn In "Series" Renewal At Ebbets Field; 2 For Gilliam

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Allie Reynolds blasted, Whitey Ford out of condition. Gerry Coleman slow getting into form. Mickey Mantle injured most of the spring.

No matter what Casey Stengel says about winning a sixth straight American League pennant, the New York Yankees were a far-from-settled baseball club today—only three days before the opening of the season.

The Yanks dropped an 8-2 decision to Brooklyn yesterday at Ebbets Field in a "renewal" of the 1953 world series.

Reynolds Was Victim

The Brooks applied the big blows—two home runs by Junior Gilliam and a base-clearing double by Sandy Amoros. It was the sixth straight defeat for the Yanks.

Reynolds was the victim of both Gilliam home runs and, in fact, all the Brooks' tallies. Johnny Sain pitched the last four innings. He held the Dodgers to two hits. Carl Erskine, Clem Labine and Jim Hughes combined to hold the Yanks to seven hits

Warren Spahn, the National League's No 1 lefthander, went the distance for the first time this spring, pitching Milwaukee to a 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Andy Pafko was involved in all the Braves' runs. He hit a bases-empty homer, scored again in the fourth and sent Danny O'Connell home when Milt Bolling fumbled his grounder in the eighth.

Maglie Impressive

The Indians shut out the Giants 1-0 behind Early Wynn, who pitched fine ball, and Mike Garcia, who was in trouble all through the final five innings.

Sal Maglie gave another impressive performance for the Giants, limiting the Indians to three hits five innings.

Pittsburgh, a mighty crew of sluggers, clubbed the Philadelphia A's 13-4. Bobby Shantz permitted the Buccos only one run in four innings, but they jumped on Bob Trice for 12 runs and a dozen hits.

Slim Crowd In D.C.

The Chicago Cubs edged the White Sox 6-5.

The Cubs scored five runs off Jack Harshman, but only one was earned. Errors paved the way for the others.

Nine runs in the first two innings were enough of a cushiong for the Detroit Tigers and they defeated Cincinnati 10-5. The Philadelphia Phillies and Washington Senators played a 2-2 tie before a gathering of only 867 in Washington.

SAYS IKE HASN'T MET MENACE OF "M'CARTHYISM"

PITTSBURGH (AP)—President Eisenhower has been "less than forthright in meeting the menace of McCarthyism," says the AFL Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

A report of the Political Action Committee adopted unanimously at the close of the federation's 52nd annual week-long convention yesterday urged the President to "show a greater leadership in the fight against McCarthyism."

The report said "McCarthyism is a menace to our constitutional form of government." It called on President Eisenhower to "restore democratic procedures" among Congressional committees and expose "techniques of McCarthyism."

No Action On Salaries

Earlier, the 1,600 delegates approved a health and welfare plan for the federation's two top officers in lieu of salary boosts. The officers are Joseph A. McDonough, newly elected president, and re-elected secretary-treasurer Earl C. Bohe.

Resolutions calling for $4,000 annual salary increases for McDonough and Bohr didn't come to a vote. McDonough makes $16,000, Bohr $13,000.

Delegates voted to send to the executive committee a plan for a workers' education program with a full-time, paid director.

DRAFT PLAN ON PENNSYLVANIA WOOD SUPPLY

HARRISBURG (AP)—A long range program to help stabilize and improve Pennsylvania's wood supply is being drafted by the State Forests and Waters Department.

The six-point plan will guide conservation and selection of timber cutting on 1¾ million acres of Pennsylvania forest land.

Progress on the program was outlined recently to the State Forest Industry Committee representing paper, lumber and furniture companies. The committee pledged its support for the program.

Six-Point Plan

The six-point plan:

1. Produce the greatest possible sustained supply of timber products.

2. Improve the species, composition and quality of existing stands; provide adequate residual growing stocks; reduce damage caused by insects and disease.

3. Regulate timber cutting so that the supply will be constant and adequate.

4. Develop and preserve recreational value of the forests.

5. Protect watersheds from erosion and obtain the maximum yield of usable water.

6. Adjust timber harvesting to produce an adequate and uniform supply of food and cover for wild life.

Coach's Judgment On Hurler Proven

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It begins to look like Fred Fitzsimmons knows something about judging the talents of a rookie pitcher.

Last summer when Al Worthington was going well here the New York Giants asked Fitzsimmons, one of their coaches, if Worthington were ready for the majors.

"Not yet," said Fitzsimmons in effect.

The Giants, however, brought Worthington to New York and he broke into the majors with shutouts against the Phillies and the Dodgers in his first two starts. Then he lost seven straight.

Ag Department Gets More Funds Than It Requested But Benson Accused Of "Breech Of Faith"

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee Friday voted the Agriculture Department more funds than it requested for next year but accused Secretary Benson of "a breach of faith" with Congress.

The committee sent to the House floor for debate next Monday a bill carrying $698,741,813 in cash and $320,500,000 in loan authority for the department for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

This is the exact amount of cash the department requested through the Budget Bureau, but the contract authority is 45 million dollars more than had been sought. The new cash is about 36 millions less than the department received this year, while the loan authorization is 64 millions less.

Conservation Fund

The committee authorized the entire 250 millions requested by the department for the conservation program for the 1955 crop year. Money to finance this authorization, which includes soil conservation subsidies, will be provided in next year's appropriation bill.

While allowing the department the amount of new cash it requested, the committee cut some of the projects in the over-all farm program and recommended tha he money hus saved go o he school lunch program.

It disagreed with the department's plan to cut the budgets of "action programs" and to shift emphasis to research and extension activities. The department had proposed cuts for the Forest Service, the Soil Conservation Service, the crop insurance program, the Rural Electrification Administration, the Farmers Home Administration and the school lunch program, and for disease and pest control work.

Cut Some Requests

The committee approved about 30 per cent of the increase proposed for state experiment stations and over 45 per cent of the increase sought for the extension service. It rejected the department's proposal to eliminate funds for indemnity payments for livestock destroyed in connection with the tuberculosis and Bang's disease control programs.

Many of the reductions proposed by the department, the committee said, were on "an arbitrary and unrealistic basis."

Another "arbitrary" action, the committee said, was Secretary Benson's freezing of funds of some of the "action programs" last fall only a few months after the department had pleaded with Congress or even more money than was finally voted.

It called this action "a breach of faith with the Congress" and said it "seriously damages confidence and working relationships."

Congress Must Decide

It is for Congress to determine the scope of the various departmental programs, the committee commented, and the intent of Congress should not be thwarted by the freezing of funds appropriated.

The 320½ million dollars in loan authority recommended in the bill includes 175 millions for the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) and 145 millions for the Farmers Home Administration. The REA authorization consists of 100 millions for electrification loans and 75 millions for telephone loans. These loans are self-liquidating.

The farmers home administration makes loans for production and subsistence, land purchase, farm improvements, water supply improvements and emergency purposes.

The 250 - million - dollar conservation program recommended for the 1955 crop year includes 55 millions for use only when Congress adopts a program for the use of lands diverted from production in 1955 under crop control programs.

For payments for the 1954 conservation program, the committee recommended $191,700,000 a cut of $3,300,000 from the budget request. It explained that the department will have $3,300,000 in unobligated balances at the end of the program year.

Republican Candidate For Congress In The May Primary Says—

While the fight for County Chairman rages, do not forget, if you want a Republican Congressman you must nominate a strong candidate who can win next Fall. Remember I won in the old district when F.D.R. was on the ticket and the district was 9,000 Democratic. Compare that with our candidate two years ago who trailed the Republican ticket in York County by 6,508 votes. You cannot elect a weak candidate next Fall.

Breeze-Blown Money Cause Of Excitement

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — It was not raining money. Charley Maynard started to town with $750 in an envelope. In his garage, he decided he'd wear a coat and went back for it. He put the money on a fender of his truck.

His brother Paul found a use for the truck at the same time and drove it off. The wind did a thorough job of scattering the money. One woman who turned in part of the $60 Maynard got back said people were fighting for the money "all the way down the hill."

BROWNELL SAYS STRICTER LAWS NEEDED ON REDS

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell says the FBI, the Justice Department and the courts are ever vigilant but the nation needs more stringent laws to dig the Communists out of hiding.

Brownell did not mention by name Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), whose Senate Investigations subcommittee had done much of Congress' Red probing. But the attorney general left the strong impression, in a nationally televised speech last night, that he believes the law enforcement agencies of the executive branch and the courts are capable of dealing with the Red menace at home.

And he said the operation of a law already on the books might, in effect, result in outlawing the Communist party through its own acts.

General Approved

Brownell's report to the nation, undertaken at the direction of President Eisenhower, brought expressions of approval for his objectives from both Republicans and Democrats in Congress.

But there were no clear indications the attorney general's requests for new legislation would generate action in the form he suggested or, in some cases, any action at all.

His speech was regarded in some quarters as an effort to take the play away from McCarthy's controversial Communist - in - government hunt.

Has Three Proposals

He proposed the imposition of the death penalty for peactime, as well as wartime espionage.

In his program to meet the Communist "threat to our nation's safety," he outlined also these proposals:

Permission for an employer to dismiss from defense plants during a national emergency any person whose record shows he is likely to engage in sabotage or espionage.

Would End Limitations

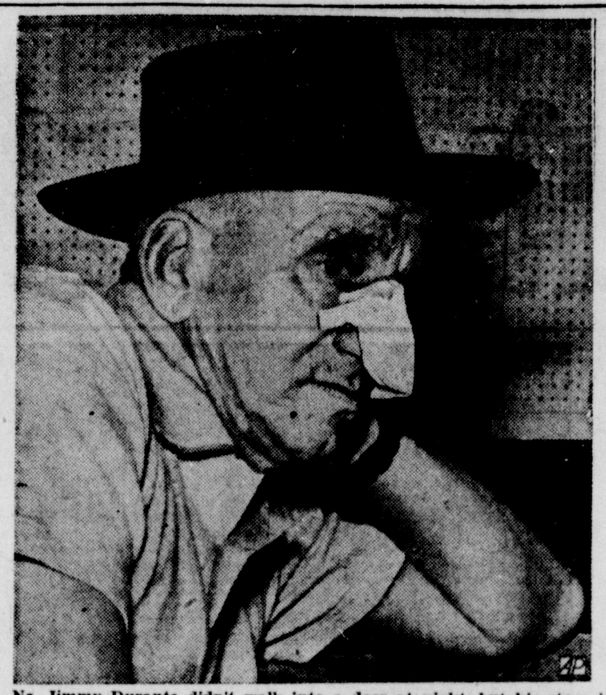

Measures to prevent witnesses from pleading self-incrimination as an excuse for refusing to testify.

Legislation on the use of wiretapped evidence.

Eliminating the statute of limitations—which prevents prosecution for crimes after a number of years—in espionage cases.

WOOD HOLDS TO OPPOSITION

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood last night turned down a request by Philip T. Sharples, chairman of the state Republican Finance Committee, that Wood drop his opposition to the nomination of Francis L. Van Dusen, Philadelphia attorney, to be a federal judge for the eastern Pennsylvania district.

Wood, the Republican organization candidate for governor and chairman of the Republican committee of Van Dusen's home Montgomery County, said:

"I will not withdraw my opposition."

Commissioner Fred C. Peters of Montgomery County also said Republican leaders of seven other counties in the federal court district had joined in the opposition of Van Dusen.

He said the group included party leaders in Lancaster, Chester, Bucks, Delaware, Philadelphia, Berks and Schuylkill Counties.

BABY SHOULD "COO" DURING HAIR SHAMPOO

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

Give your baby a head start with shining, healthy locks.

Some youngsters scream in anguish every time they are shampooed. Often that is because Mom fails to make the head-washing a relaxed session and Junior builds up a distaste for the performance. Soap in the eyes and an overly-energetic Mom who massages the scalp a bit too briskly are likely to be baby's chief objections.

But hair cleanliness must go on no matter how the junior member of the family feels. Baby is outdoors more in spring and summer, perhaps, and he may need more frequent cleansings than a once-a-week shampoo to rid his little scalp of accumulated dirt and scale.

Brush baby's hair every day to help aerate the underneath layer of the hair and polish it into a healthy luster. Brushing is stimulating and aids the circulation which feeds hair roots and helps hair to grow. Use a brush with strong bristles that are not too stiff for tender scalps.

Use New Shampoo

Use one of the new baby shampoos designed for tear-free hair washings. The liquid is formulated so that it does not burn or irritate the eyes. When youngsters discover this new magic, temper tantrums should cease.

If Mom dreams of a curly-haired baby, she may help train her tot's locks by brushing hair gently around her finger as it is drying. In between curls she will need to use a good absorbent towel to blot baby's hair dry. The just-before-dry stage is the ideal time to set curls or ringlets.

A good time to wash baby's hair is after the bath. If hair is shampooed first, baby is likely to shiver through the bath session. It is important, too, to make sure that baby is not in a draft and is kept happy during the entire performance.

Mom should keep up a rapid-fire conversation in answer to baby's every coo, offsetting probable wails. A toy plopped in the wash basin just as the shampoo begins may distract him for a little while.

Handcuffs seldom are carried by Scotland Yard men.

Helpful Driver's Bark Gains 2 New Patrons

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — A woman carried her weary little son aboard driver J. L. Whitmire's bus. The youngster wanted to sleep. The mother, knowing that sleep would ruin the child's regular afternoon nap at home, tried every trick to keep him awake. It was a losing battle.

"See if you can find the dog!" Whitmire urged th child.

Then he emitted convincingly dog-like "yips." The child kept wide awake searching for the dog during the rest of the trip.

Now the mother and child are Whitmire's regular patrons. And the boy is still looking for the missing dog.

Joseph McCarthy (R—Wis.) as a headline hunter in his address before the UAW-CIO International Educational Conference in Chicago. The Bishop, referring to Sen. Mich. Driver's Anger Costs Extra $10 Fine

DETROIT (AP) — Detroiter Richard Coker's anger grew with each block he circled. He couldn't find a place to park. And, after all, he'd come downtown to pay off a ticket for illegal parking.

Finally he drove smack onto the sidewalk at City Hall, and stormed in to give the mayor a piece of his mind. The mayor was out. So Coker stormed back to the sidewalk —nly to find police had towed his car away.

That cost him $10 on top of his $3 ticket.

Like camels, giraffes can go for long periods without water.

FIRE MOVING JOB

OTTAWA, Kan. (AP) — When the fire trucks couldn't go to the fire, they brought the fire to the trucks. A diesel engine caught fire outside the city limits and the trucks were prohibited from leaving town. The railroad hooked a switch engine to the train and pulled it into the city limits where the firemen did their duty.

SUPERSTITIOUS NAVY GOAT IS NOW BILL XIV

By CHARLES PUFFENBARGER

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The identity of Navy's famous Billy the Goat has finally been straightened out.

The odorous gentleman known since 1947 as Billy XII is now officially Billy XIV.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, U.S. Naval Academy superintendent, says the goat "has been officially redesignated Bill XIV at his own request.

"Navy goats exercise certain broad prerogatives," says Adm. Joy. "Bill has not advanced any reasons for his request and it would not be appropriate for us to question him, but the consensus is that he does not want his successor to wear the number 13."

Really Blue-Blooded

And Navy publicist John T. Cox confirms that ex-Billy XII, now XIV, is not really a Texan of angora descent, but a blue-gray herd goat, "possibly of Norwegian ancestry," from a nearby farm who was called to service as a casualty replacement in 1947.

Confusion has reigned at the academy over the goat, or goats, since Texas presented the middies an angora mascot from the 1937 Centennial Exposition.

Cox says, however, that the present goat, rushed in by Roger Williams, an Annapolis barber, on the eve of the 1947 Army-Navy game after the sudden death of his predecessor is Billy XIV.

He was known briefly as XI but for the last few years XII although—demonstrating the utter confusion—his predecessor was Billy X.

Although not a bluebood, Billy XIV helped Coach Eddie Erdelatz lead the Tars to three consecutive wins over Army from 1950 to 1952.

"What's in a name," says ageless goat keeper Leander (Smoky) Phelps. That goat has been doing a wonderful job."

Survives Goatnappings

Billy XIV has survived two much-publicized goatnappings, the efforts of fumigation and a near scandal from charges of impersonating an angora and false identification.

In doing so he ably carried on the Billy Boat tradition started in 1900 by Bill I.

The long reign of Bills has survived brief bids of others to the throne. The pretenders include a pigeon, two cats and a dog. Goats have held fast since 1904.

Legend has it that the first goat was stolen from the yard of an Army officer just prior to the first Army-Navy game in 1890.

El Cid (the chief) was the nom de plume given one goat. Another was Mike.

Bill II was most famous, leading Navy to successive 3-0 victories over Army in 1910 and 1911. He now is stuffed in a glass case in the foyer of the academy gymnasium.

In 1914 Delaware had to lift a quarantine for hoof and mouth disease to allow the goat to pass through to Philadelphia for the annual service game.

The record books show that the first case of goatnapping occurred in 1933 at the Columbia game in New York. Bill XIV survived two abductions, one at the hands of Maryland two seasons back and the other by Army cadets last season.

News Of Special Interest To The Automobile Owners Of Adams County

Consistent Good Driving Is Key To Avoiding Accidents; No Place At Wheel For Emotionalism

Many a woman has her little peculiarity. But that isn't what she usually calls him.

Safety In Consistency

One of the most important points about good driving is to handle the car consistently well. It is surprising how many accidents occur because skillful operators are prone to have their weak moments awheel.

It explains why many people who are not especially skillful have a way of keeping out of the news. They just go along doing the best they can all the time and are thus seldom caught. Temperament has a lot to do with it. But temperamental drivers should learn to keep emotionalism out of the car, concentrating on doing the driving job as efficiently as possible. There is always room for improvement even in the best regulated set-up, but this should always be something that raises the general level of skill rather than a mere flash of brilliance. Too often the outstanding act of skill is followed by something that plainly calls for an apology.

All this wouldn't be worth the space I am giving it were it not for the fact that some of the worst drivers are made by those who have earned a solid reputation for highly reliable driving. It isn't that they deliberately let down the bars but simply that they tend to become a little too mechanical for comfort, thus finding themselves occasionally trapped in a situation where they fail to do the right things at the right time.

Very Important Zeros

While a hole in a tire tube is no blessing you'd be surprised what an important function holes play in various units of the modern car. I won't make a Swiss cheeze of this but will just mention three that are well to the top of the list. One is the air vent for the gas tank. It may be in the cap of the filler pipe or in the pipe itself. Another is an air vent for the transmission or the rear axle to help check pressure build-up. The third is the air bleed hole in the motor thermostat.

Anything Overlooked?

Modern car owners have a new warning in those three little words: Keep it full. It used to be that we had to check the radiator level, the engine oil, and at less frequent intervals the lube level in the steering gear, transmission and the rear axle. Then came the hydraulic braking system with its reservoir which needed checking. Now we have the reservoir for hydraulic fluid in the system for the automatic top, driver's seat and windows. In addition, there is the fluid level for the power steering reservoir, for the automatic transmission, and the liquid in the reservoir for the windshield washer.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Longer distributor life and much better ignition results from attention to three things in the lubrication line. One is the shaft which will need cup grease in some cases, oil in others. There is a grease cup, grease fitting or an oil cup on the shaft just below the distributor housing for this purpose.

"The other lube points are not so obvious. One is the need for wiping a very little petroleum jelly on the cam so that the little rubbing block will not wear down and change the breaker gap. The other is that little pad atop the distributor shaft right under the rotor. It needs a drop or two of light oil."

For Future Reference

I hope you never experience a leaky gas tank but in the event this happens remember that you can usually make up a plug by using a sheet metal screw larger than the hole in the gas tank. First push the screw through a small section of gasket material on which you have applied some gasket goo. Then insert the screw in the hole and let the stuff dry. It will let you get around a bit until you can have the tank expertly repaired or replaced.

Hints Trouble Electrical

Troubles that develop in the car when it is in the first few miles of operation in the morning often can be traced to a weak battery. As soon as the generator gets into action and begins to take over the load or give the battery a needed charge things many become normal again. Among those parts affected by low voltage are the lights, the overdrive relay and solenoid, automatic windows, automatic seats and tops. In the case of overdrive if the car won't shift up from third the owner is apt to suspect mechanical trouble. That's why it pays to drive a little further to see if things become normal again. If they do, the battery should be looked into.

Likely Point Of Loss

When coolant has a way of escaping from the car and there are no visible signs of leakage, the temptation is to assume the water goes out the radiator overflow when expansion takes place. It would be smarter to consider the possibility of leakage at the bottom of the radiator tank. Feel it for evidences of moisture (when the engine is "off!")

That vacuum operated radio aerial will go up and down more smoothly if you will polish it when it is extended.

Ever check the radiator overflow pipe? If pinched, it could cause a lot of trouble during overheating.

Water leaking from the vent at the bottom of the clutch housing may indicate a leaky core at the back of the motor block.

Keep 'Em Running

With so many owners still operating old cars, or buying them with the idea of reconditioning them for sport use or antique club activities it is important to be aware of the various sources for parts. I am trying to keep abreast of this, and currently find my best sources are the trading columns of the various antique club publications. Catering to the needs of the men or woman who likes old cars is getting to be quite a business. I find, for instance, that it is not difficult to get such tire sizes as 33 by 5, 7.00 by 19 and 800 by 17, imported and of the finest quality, even though such sizes are dream stuff in the usual channels. And did you know that often you can pick up an extra $100 reward for tipping off a buyer to the where-abouts of some gone but not forgotten car?

It is an excellent idea to reason that if one child darts across the street another will be following, although you may not see him at the time. It is the same with animals. While the risk isn't as great with adults the smart thing is to assume that if one pedestrian is jay walking another is likely to feel a similar urge.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. We have sanded the brake lining in an effort to check squealing, but the situation is as bad as ever. Must I replace the linings? T. K. M.

A. Before taking this step have the shoes re-adjusted and if this doesn't help cut back the lining about a half inch at each end.

Station Wagon Is Named "Conestoga"

The Studebaker Corporation has christened its new 1954 station wagon the "Conestoga" and, to be sure that the legendary flavor of this name is not ever looked, has just published a brochure entitled "The Story of the Conestoga."

Dr. O. O. Winther of Indiana University says the Conestoga were the famous covered wagons in which on-the-move Americans poured across the Great Rockies and opened up the Far West a century ago. "To restless settlers, forever seeking new fortunes farther in the direction of the setting sun, the Conestoga wagon provided a sure means of transport."

It was named after the place in which it was originated — the Conestoga Valley of Pennsylvania, Dr. Winther reveals. One of the Pennsylvanians who migrated westward in a Conestoga of his own making was John Studebaker: He settled in South Bend, Ind., where his sons started a business that eventually built thousands of the famous oak-tough vehicles with the jaunty style in which the populace rolled westward. In 1904, the company turned to the manufacture of automobiles.

"Now," writes Dr. Winther, "Studebaker has reached into its romantic past to make the name Conestoga live again. Rolling off the assembly lines in South Bend is the ultramodern Conestoga station wagon. Styled by Raymond Loewy it is trim and handsome and at the same time it is powerful and sturdy."

The United States population gain in the past eight years is more than a third greater than the entire population of Canada.

PILGRIMAGE TO JERUSALEM IS MADE AT EASTER

JERUSALEM (AP)—No Easter bunnies or colored eggs appear on an Oriental Easter, but to millions of Christians in the Middle East Easter is the biggest holiday of the year.

Easter is the time of the big pilgrimage to Jerusalem for Christians belonging to primitive churches scarcely heard of by their co-religionists in the West. These include Syrian Orthodox Christians, who use the language which Christ spoke in their ritual; Egyptian Copts, who still use the language of the ancient pharaohs in their scriptures; Armenians, the first nation to become Christian; Greek and Russian Orthodox, who are welcoming an American Orthodox pilgrimage to Jerusalem this Easter for the first time; and primitive Ethiopians, who consider themselves descendants of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

These are the people who crowd Jerusalem's Church of the Holy Sepulchre for the Miracle of the Holy Fire, the climax of Easter in the Holy Land. At one time Roman Catholics observed this service, but now they are forbidden to do so because of the physical dangers.

Seek Holy Fire

These dangers loom very real when several thousand Christians jam the church to receive the Holy Fire. The rotunda of the Holy Sepulchre is packed. High above in overhanging balconies, windows, and even swinging from rafters devout pilgrims wait for the moment when fire issues from the tomb to symbolize the resurrection of Christ.

Until recently, pilgrims would camp on the floor of the church the night before. Copts from Egypt hung huge boxes from arches of the church. They slept and ate in these boxes to have a favored position Easter morning.

No one is permitted to sleep in the church today, but early in the morning crowds gather in all chapels, in the courtyard and on overhanging buildings nearby. The aging church has become so shaky that steel props hold it up at most points, and these bolsters become the "gallery" of late comers. Almost everyone carries a small candle, ready to take a light from the sacred fire.

The door to the tomb is formally closed early Easter morning, after inspection has shown that no one is inside and that no man-made fire burns there. Then for hours the packed crowd waits for the "miracle"—the divine fire which shoots out from two holes in the side of the sepulchre.

During the Middle Ages, this fire was considered miraculous; today all churches term it a "symbolic miracle," but to many simple pilgrims the miracle stil is genuine.

As the crowd waits, groups of youths stage wild sword dances. One youth is mounted on the shoulders of his friends and they surge through the crowd chanting primitive slogans in Greek or Arabic. The youth on top swings a sword over the heads of the mob.

In late years the use of a real sword has been discouraged. The sword-bearer now uses a stick or whip. Last Easter, one brandished a revolver.

Then Arab Legion police fight to clear a path for church dignitaries to open the tomb.

Bedlam Breaks Loose

A hush falls. A flame juts out. A shout of "He is risen," and bedlam breaks loose.

Candle after candle is lighted from the Holy Fire, across the tops of the crowd, high up to the farthest reaches of the balconies and rafters above, to the nooks and corners of the church, to the courtyard outside, even to the tops of buildings across the street.

Arab and Israeli policeman open the gates across no-man's land as runners carry the fire from Arab Palestine into Israel.

A path is cleared around the Holy Sepulchre, and Oriental churchmen join in a joyful procession. Cymbals clang and happy hymns are sung. Copts in purple robes, Armenians in golden vestments, Ethiopians in red, and Arab dragomen in brilliant livery brighten the ritual.

Stranger Ceremony

On Easter Eve the resurrection of Christ is observed in an even stranger ceremony to the beat of African tom toms under the full moon on the roof of the church. This primitive rite is called "the search for the body of Christ" by black monks of the Ethiopian Church.

Through the day, monks chant sorrowful prayers for the dead Christ in the ancient Ethiopic tongue, which they believe was the language of the Queen of Sheba.

Then the scripture is read "Why seek ye 'he living among the dead?" and the monks break into a procession of rejoicing. Tom toms beat a happy rhythm. The monks wear brilliant vestments and follow some primitive tradition by carrying red umbrellas.

These Oriental rites will be observed this year one week later than the Easter of Western Christians. Tht difference in dates is due to the Oriental use of the old Julian Calendar.

TEEN TALK

BY VIVIAN BROWN

The Associated Press

Do you know how to write a love letter?

If you do, you're an exception. Few girls and fewer boys hit the love target when they take the pen in hand—by their own admissions.

So many soldiers at Ft. Hood, Tex., asked the question, "How do you write a love letter?" that librarian Mary Mathis has been rounding up as many books as possible on the subject. So it seems that even if boys are not experts at love archery, they know "the girl" expects Dan Cupid to shoot a love missile her way occasionally.

Mush Vs. Prissy

On the other hand say the boys, girls fall into two categories when it comes to letter writing. There are the drooly, mushy love-sick-fawn types who pour out innermost affection even to once-in-a-while dates, and the prissy, shy type who can't even write an ever-lovin' missive to her fiance.

Some of the most saccharin correspondence imaginable is to be found on old Valentines, copied in many instances from love primers that were sold to aid letterwriters back in the Gay 80's and 90's. In those days sweethearts and swains were shy and bashful except when it came to expressing their feelings on paper. Then they went all out.

Here are examples of letters sent at different periods, illustrating how the trend has been from the blunt to the subtle love letter. You might find one here that could be useful today:

1893 Style

In 1893, boy to girl:

". . . Yes, I would gladly die for you. I can't think of anything but your glistening white teeth, the aroma of your lovely locks, your dainty feet and hands. And your laugh—it is so melodious that I can dream only that it is somehow wired to a heavenly harp."

In 1910, girl to boy:

". . . It has only been my own stupid blindness that has kept me from admitting to myself how much I care for you. I am sorry that I have hurt you, and if you should call to see me within the near future, I would be most happy indeed, dear George. . . ."

In 1917 girl to boy:

(During this war period there was an increase in love letter writing.)

". . . Oh my darling my heart ache is nothing compared to yours, for I have the benefit of friends and family to distract my thoughts occasionally. But how terrible it must be for you. I hope you will be home soon, very soon, I am miserable thinking of your caresses, and yearn to feel your arms around me."

Curious Girl

In 1927, girl to boy:

"I am sorry that I was not in when you telephoned. Was it important? I missed seeing you at the dance the other night. Were you ill or just 'busy'?"

In 1940, boy to girl:

"This is lovely country. I have been playing tennis and hiking and have a gargantuan appetite. Wish you were here."

A letter typical of the period from 1941 until now, from a girl to a service man, is this one written in 1953:

". . . I am sending the socks under separate cover. What will you tell the Army belles when you wear them? Oh, yes, you can always say your mother made them. I imagine you will miss your class reunion and the crowd at the seashore this summer. But perhaps you are enjoying new friends. Are the girls pretty?"

Warmth Important

It would seem the recipe for a successful love letter should be based on how well you know the young man. But in varying combinations should express large doses of friendliness, warmth, liquid sunshine, mystery, sincerity. If a boy has romanced you, he expects a love letter when you write him. There is no point in being snobbish about it. But if he hasn't ever shown romantic interest in you, don't scare him away for good by writing him a love letter.

A good rule with all letters is to write them, put them away, read them the next day and if you are still satisfied, then put them in the mail.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
The Associated Press

FLASH PHOTOGRAPHY, once the trademark of a professional photographer, has become common practice even by beginners using the most inexpensive cameras, with an estimated more-than-four-hundred-million bulbs used annually. Even greater use by amateurs and beginners is predicted in the very near future with the recent perfection of tinier flashbulbs. New and smaller flash units are certain to blossom out shortly for all types of amateur cameras geared to these sub-midget bulbs.

The purpose of all this, of course, is to make picture taking indoors as easy and as certain as it has been outdoors with sunshine all these years. However, with each and every flashbulb costing a minimum of ten cents, more thought has to be directed towards getting better pictures.

Better pictures come with understanding—understanding your subject matter, your camera and your flash equipment. For most camera fans, the subject matter is concerned with the daily occurrences and the special events that make up family living—the youngsters' activities, birthday, parties, gatherings and outings. All these doings spell "A-C-T-I-O-N," the very quality that flash pictures can capture and convey.

• • •

YOUNGSTERS, ESPECIALLY, look unnatural when commanded to stand still and pose. Some one truly observed that children have thousands of muscles to wiggle and move and only one for sitting still—and that one tires quickly. With flash you can ignore all but the most violent of movements, for the duration of the fragmentary intense light runs from 1/50th (class M) to 1/200th of a second (class SM or SF).

It's a good idea to encourage a few safety habits along with the use of flash. Sometimes the electrical circuit of your camera-flash unit becomes shorted and a bulb is liable to go off in your hand while you are putting it in the socket. To prevent burned fingers or an unexpected flash in your eyes, at each shooting session put the very first bulb in before you make your flash connection. Aim the flash lamp away from you when you do make the connection.

Don't use cracked bulbs. When fired, air can enter and the lamp will explode.

• • •

USE A FLASHGUARD or suitable shield when shooting close-ups to guard against possible shattering. Never use flash in an explosive atmosphere such as in a garage with gasoline vapors or a cellar with gas fumes.

If your flash has a lamp ejector, use it, instead of burning your fingers or forcing bulbs from the socket.

Operate the ejector while aiming the discarded bulb over a waste basket or container. Never drop a freshly fired lamp into a batch of unused bulbs—they may go off.

Flashbulbs were not meant to be fired from house current unless the carton says "from 3 to 125 volt operation." The extra voltage can cause them to shatter.

WHAT'S NEW? A new design, new two-tone colors and new operating features mark the debut of Ansco's fixed focus, reflex camera, the Anscoflex. Designed by Raymond Loewy, in gray and silver, it features an unusual sliding front panel which protects the two front lenses when not in use. When pictures are to be taken, sliding the panel up automatically opens the viewing hood. Another new feature is the extra large film winding knob which works like winding a watch. The Anscoflex will sell for $15.95; a flash attachment for $4.95. It will reach camera shops and drug and department stores throughout the country after June 1.

Three new 35 mm cameras by Ansco also made their debut at the same time. One of them, the Memar camera, had all the important basic features of more expensive miniature cameras though priced at $42.50. It featured a thumb-lever film transport which advances the film, sets the exposure counter, actuates the double-exposure preventor and cocks the shutter for the next picture—all in the one flick of the thumb. Other features are: f 3.5 color corrected lens; synchronized shutter; built-in dial to tell kind of film in camera and hinged back for easier film loading. A flash unit is $8.95. The new Memar will be available at camera stores after April 1.

Ozark's Oldest Newspaperwoman Publishes Paper Single-Handed

By HAROLD HART

WINSLOW, Ark. (AP)—The little lady sits huddled at the type case, meticulously assembling the weekly Winslow American with a dexterity belying her 80 years.

Outside a raw wind blows across the face of Boston Mountain, rattling the sideboards of the tiny print shop. A scant 50 feet away U.S. Highway 71 curls northward to Fayetteville, 20 miles away.

Here on the "top of the Ozarks," highest mountain range between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, twice-widowed Mrs. Maud Duncan has for more than 35 years been publishing "as respectable a paper as possible."

The decision wasn't too difficult to make, she recalls, but circumstances rather than choice resulted in her becoming an editor and publisher.

Wrote Husband's Obituary

Mrs. Duncan's husband, who founded the paper, died Nov. 18, 1918. She wrote his obituary and took over as editor, publisher, printer, circulation and advertising manager and "newsboy."

"Sometimes I think of giving up the paper," she says, "but folks say 'Oh, Miss Maud, don't give up the newspaper. We need the paper.'"

The circulation list numbers about 500, paying $1 a year.

The sprightly Miss Maud interrupts her type setting long enough to throw another stick of wood into the pot-bellied stove. Nearby stands the ancient, foot-pedaled job press on which the four to six-page tabloid is printed. She says:

"Mr. Duncan was my second husband. He started the paper Sept. 1, 1908. I was a registered pharmacist. He was a newspaperman. We used to joke that he was a flunky in the drugstore and I was the printers' devil on the paper.

Is Tourist Attraction

"When he thought things were wrong, he did something about it."

Any murders? Mountain feuds?

"Oh, no," she says.

"There's been nothing really distressing except sickness and death to write about."

Mrs. Duncan and the Winslow American have become quite a tourist attraction. On days when a warm summer sun bathes the Ozarks, the great and just average citizens stick their heads in the door, sign the register and marvel that so much can be done with so little.

How does an 80-year-old woman editor feel about any attempts to harness freedom of the press?

"My oh my, it wouldn't do at all! It would be Russia over here. We don't want anything like that in these United States of ours. It just wouldn't be a free country."

DULLES GOING TO EUROPE ON UNITED ACTION FOR INDOCHINA

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER and JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles takes to Europe tonight evidence of some powerful domestic support for his proposed 10-nation anti-Red stand on the Indochina War, although so far only one other country has lined up.

Dulles can show to the British and French colleagues whom he is trying to win to the U. S. plan:

1. Outspoken backing from President Eisenhower. A White House meeting of the President and the secretary today was arranged apparently to dramatize the top-level support for Dulles' critical mission.

Thailand Acts

2. Good wishes for Dulles from members of Congress—but also intimations that some U. S. lawmakers favor a financial crackdown on allies who do not fall in with U. S. plans.

3. The first formal acceptance of the bid Dulles made to nine countries to join the United States in a front of free nations against the Red menace. Thailand's ambassador, Pote Sarasin, yesterday brought to Dulles word of the decision by his country, which borders on Indochina.

Dulles takes off from Washington in an Air Force plane at 6 p.m. EST for London. After conferences there with Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill he plans to fly to Paris Tuesday to continue the discussions with Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. Dulles is scheduled to return to the United States Wednesday.

To Talk "United Action"

The official State Department announcement said Dulles' talks in London and Paris "will concern themselves with questions relating to the Geneva Conference" on Korean and Indochinese peace settlements. This conference is due to open April 26, with the Western Big Three, Russia and Red China in attendance.

However, the primary purpose for the quickly scheduled trip is Dulles' need to persuade the British and French governments to join in the "united action" program he first called for in a speech 13 days ago.

The British and French governments, in consultations carried out through diplomatic channels, have shown reluctance to take any such action in advance of the Geneva meeting. They have reportedly questioned whether it was necessary and, if so, whether this was the time to do it.

Need New Strength

Eisenhower and Dulles are convinced, however, that a new element of strength must be injected into the Indochina situation on the free world side at once. There is deep concern here over the maintenance of a French will to carry on the fight to some kind of successful conclusion, and there is a strong desire to bolster the French position in advance of the negotiations at Geneva.

The 10 nations which would be in the agreement if Dulles is wholly successful are the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines, and the three Indochinese states of Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam.

WANT "TEETH" IN CHILD CARE LEGISLATION

By JOHN KOENIG Jr.

HARRISBURG (AP)—A determined drive to secure child care legislation with "more teeth" in it appeared under way today.

Leaders of welfare organizations supporting new child care bills which fell short of passage in the 1953 General Assembly point out that what they wanted to achieve already is being accomplished in part of Pennsylvania.

Specifically, they point to 21 of the commonwealth's 67 counties which now receive federal funds for child care aid when their institutions are approved by the State Welfare Department.

The principle of commonwealth approval, they say, could be applied in general rather than limiting it to just federally-aided institutions.

The 1953 legislation would have given state aid to all counties providing adequate child care service. Lack of funds was given as the reason for bottling up the legislation.

Want "Proper Standards"

The Pennsylvania Roll Call for Children, including representatives of numerous interested welfare agencies, already is on record as favoring the drawing up of legislation for the 1955 Assembly to insure that "proper standards" be kept at all child care institutions.

Among leaders in the "Roll Call" organization, John H. Doherty, Delaware County commissioner, declared that the maintenance of adequate standards in children's institutions is being vigorously enforced in his county.

"Our program could be put in force throughout the state," Doherty told a newsman.

Mrs. Isabella Jones, deputy welfare secretary, termed Delaware the "prize exhibit" among the 21 counties receiving federal aid for institutions winning Welfare Department approval.

Doherty said that the measuring rod must be applied equally to sectarian as well as non-sectarian institutions caring for children.

"We found that many institutions receiving public funds are not keeping up to proper standards," he said.

The first step in providing for neglected children, Doherty said, is to attempt to have the parents create a home for them once again. This failing, a foster home is provided or the child goes to an institution.

Delaware County, he said, now has a professional staff devoting all its time to placing neglected children.

County intervention in such cases was provided for in the commonwealth's County Institutional Act some years ago.

Mrs. Jones pointed out that "most other states" also provide money on the statewide level, in addition to relaying federal funds, to approved child care institutions.

Only legislation in a child welfare package to win approval in the 1953 General Assembly was a bill revising adoption procedure and providing, but not requiring, Welfare Department approval for agencies handling adoptions.

Birdie Tebbetts, new manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was graduated from Providence College in 1934 with a Bachelor of Philosophy degree.

UNEMPLOYMENT CLAIMS RISE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Bureau of Employment Security listed a 19 per cent rise in new claims for unemployment insurance benefits in Pennsylvania during the week ended April 2.

New claims totaled 44,000 as compared to the previous week's 37,000. Continued claims increased by 1,800 to a total of approximately 241,800 for the week.

The bureau attributed the increase in claims to larger numbers of layoffs in the anthracite and bituminous mining fields, construction, apparel and electrical machinery industries.

Total benefits paid in regular claims from 217,200 persons were $5,542,000. Veterans benefits totaled $108,568.

The bureau said that new claims for unemployment insurance benefits for a similar period last year, the week ending April 3, totaled 29,793. Continued claims at that time were 106,966.

MRS. GLEASON ASKS $5,000 A MONTH ALIMONY

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason's wife, who says the TV funnyman "spends money with reckless abandon," has filed a separation suit against the roly-poly star involving a new high in temporary alimony.

Mrs. Genevieve Gleason, 38, filed a petition in Supreme Court yesterday charging abandonment and non-support and asked $5,000 a month temporary alimony and $30,000 in counsel fees.

Says He's Able To Pay

Claiming the comedian is able to pay, Mrs. Gleason said:

"He has a fabulous wardrobe and very expensive jewelry. He lives a life of complete splendor and spends money with reckless abandon."

Mrs. Gleason added that her estrained mate, who occupies a duplex penthouse at the Park Sheraton Hotel, earned $336,000 last year.

Has Been Paying $1,750

When they separated nearly three years ago, she said, Gleason gave her $1,000 a month to support her and their two daughters, Geraldine, 15, and Linda, 12, plus rent and department store bills. She said he later raised the amount to $1,750. They were married in 1936.

The couple's estrangement and Jackie's romance with Miss Taylor was disclosed after Gleason suffered a broken leg last Jan. 30 in a fall on his show.

PHONY PROF OFFERED JOB

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 32-year-old pseudo professor recently fired by the University of New Hampshire has been offered job help by Philadelphia's managing director because his father died in line of duty as a city policeman.

Robert K. Sawyer, city managing director, has offered to help Marvin Hewitt who was discharged at New Hampshire after officials discovered he was posing as a mathematics and physics professor when actually he never finished high school.

Sawyer's sympathetic response to the story of the self taught student was prompted by the fact that Hewitt's father, the late police Sgt. Samuel Hewitt, was killed while chasing a car thief in April, 1947. The thief later was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Offer To Help

Sawyer said he had discussed the story of Hewitt's son with Commissioner of Police Thomas J. Gibbons, who agreed that if anything could be done to find a place in Philadelphia industry for the fake professor, the step should be taken.

Sawyer said he wrote to Hewitt in care of a national magazine (Life) which carried a story on the native Philadelphian.

Hewitt, now living in Hempstead, N. Y., says he hasn't received the letter to date and prefers not to comment until he does. He says he is not employed at the present time.

At the same time, the State Highways Department received these low bids on other road improvement projects:

Hayworth-Haymes Fish In Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Rita Hayworth and her crooner-husband, Dick Haymes, went deep sea fishing today after agreeing to pose for photographers.

Miss Hayworth and Haymes came here Thursday night, reportedly for a meeting between the actress and her former husband, Prince Aly Khan, to work out a settlement for their child, Princess Yasmin.

Aly, however, was reported still in Los Angeles and was said to have an engagement there tomorrow, ruling out any chance of his meeting Rita here the next day or so.

Recent tests indicate that children with impaired hearing are more apt to become juvenile delinquents than normal children.
